I think it's deplorable that the dairy industry gets away with doing what they do to cows to force them to produce more milk. These genetically altered, antibiotic enhanced products are being served to children all over the country as an important food, when in fact, there are probably some serious concerns about their safety. I, as a parent of 6 children, would like to see more accountability in the dairy industry and more honesty about what is being done to the cows in the name of business.

Sincerely,
